

A COMMON GOAL WITHIN OUR COMMUNITY

At Enbridge, operating our pipelines safely and reliably is a top priority. We work diligently to protect our underground pipeline infrastructure because it means our neighbors and employees are protected as well. Although pipeline leaks are rare, Enbridge is prepared and will work with emergency responders to protect the public and environment in the event of a pipeline emergency.

The websites listed contain valuable safety information for emergency response organizations, including Emergency Response Action Plans for our areas of operations, emergency contact numbers and resources such as pipeline safety brochures and posters. We encourage emergency response organizations to review the information and share it with others in their organization.

If you are an emergency responder and have questions about pipelines in your area, are interested in emergency response exercises or would like to speak with an Enbridge representative, please contact us.
